

Grand Prairie Early College High School

Communication Plan

Grand Prairie Early College High School is a small high school designed to offer students a personalized and supportive college-preparatory instructional environment as well as a combined high school and college curriculum. It is the goal of Grand Prairie Early College to provide underrepresented students the ability to earn up to 60 hours of college credit.

How to Know Grand Prairie Early College High School is Right for Your Child:

1. Your child wants an enriching course of study, which enables a student to combine high school courses and college-level courses to earn either an associate degree or at least 60 semester credit hours toward a baccalaureate degree.
2. Your child has expressed an interest in becoming a nurse.
3. Your child's highly qualified teachers are adjunct high school faculty capable of teaching college-level courses.
4. Your child is focused on college. College courses are taught on our high school campus by college faculty and college courses are taught on the college campus by college faculty.
5. Your child wants to graduate from college before graduating from high school.
6. Your child naturally strives for excellence and high achievement.
